All Britain Awards 2016

THE RESULTS

This is my first year having responsibility for the All Britain Awards and I have been extremely impressed by the quality and quantity of the entries. It is especially pleasing to see several new members taking part and in particular youth members. The commitment and dedication of exhibitors of Jersey cattle is a credit to our breed and I hope you will all agree that the standard of this year's All Britain Awards has been exceptional. As with all competitions not every animal can win or indeed make the final stage but I would like to thank all the exhibitors who put their animals forward and encourage them to think ahead to the 2017 Awards when I hope we will see an even larger entry.

As you will be aware the Jersey Times does not carry show reports so the All Britain Awards are an opportunity for some of the most successful show cows during the previous year to feature in the magazine. The competition is designed to highlight these cows, their owners and breeders for the outstanding work they do in promoting the Jersey Cow at National and Local events.

To enter the competition the animal must have a showing record for the relevant year and have been photographed during that show season.

Initially the entrants are scrutinised by a nomination panel who have no connection to any of the animals entered in the competition. Taking into account the showing achievements and the quality and appearance of the animal in the photo this panel draws up a shortlist of six animals in each class. This completes the nomination process. It then passes to the Jersey Cattle Society's Official Judges Panel to vote for their top three individuals in each class. Points are awarded with 7 points for a first placing, 4 for second and 1 for third. When these have been totalled the Champion, Reserve and Honourable Mention in each class is awarded. No judge may allocate placings in a class where an animal they own or bred is nominated.
